INDEX TO VOLUME CXXVII.

Abbott, S. W. The necessity of a revision of the classification and nomenclature employed in the vital statistics of Massachusetts, 113; the importance of public disinfecting stations, 286, 311.
Aconite poisoning, Robinson, S. Q., 192.
Adams, J. F. A. The prevention of disease in Massachusetts, 29, 53.
Age. Recuperative power in advanced age, 158, 167.
Air. Anæmia and mountain air, 248.
Akinesia Algera. Putnam, J. J., 245.
Albuminuria in pregnancy, Smith, C. D., 69; the relations of albuminuria to excessive uric acid secretion and oxaluria, DaCosta, J. M., 589.
Albun. Examination of urine by the centrifugal machine, 73.
Alcohol. The use of stimulants by women, 367; Is alcoholism increasing among American women? 560.
Allen, P. J. Twisting of the umbilical cord, 490.
Ambergris, 489.
Amputation. Is amputation ever indicated in coxitis? Mynter, H., 18; amputation in the light of mechanical science vs. prothetical science, McCurdy, S. L., 21.
Anæmia and mountain air, 248.
Anæsthesia in veterinary surgery, 50.
Anatomy. Fusion of hands, 343; recent progress in anatomy, Dwight, T., 454.
Andrew, E. The powerful effect of sulphonal in arresting the cramps of fractured limbs and other reflex spasms, 21.
Aneurism. A case of popliteal aneurism, Cummings, G. H., 67.
Annus Medicus, MDCCCXCII, 632.
Anthropology at the World's Fair, Putnam, F. W., 127.
Antipyretics in fever, Smith, A. N., 220.
Antisepsis. Obstetrical asepsis and antisepsis, Blaylock, E., 218; asepsis and antisepsis in the country, Prouty, J. J., 219.
Appendicitis. Marshall, N. M., 68; two cases of relapsing appendicitis, operation between attacks, cure, Homans, J., 86; the treatment of appendicitis, Worcester, A., 101, 118; remarks on the surgical treatment of appendicitis, Richardson, M. H , 105, 118; appendicitis, summary of cases, Elliott, J. W., 111, 118; forms of appendicitis which are amenable to strictly medical or expectant treatment, 366; a rapidly fatal case of appendicitis, Tuttle, A. H., 432; surgery of the appendix vermiformis, Treves, F., 466.
Arithmetical prodigy, Binet, 442.
Armstrong, S. T. The sanitary administration of passenger steamships, especially those that are infected, 451.
Arsenic. The Lancet special analytical commission on arsenical wall-papers, 199.
Ashmead, A. S. Cremation of bodies dead with cholera, 272.
Asthma. The treatment of asthma by iodide of potassium, 71.
Ayer, J. B. Recuperative power in advanced age, 158, 167.
Baby-Farm Law, 74.
Bacon, G. A case of mastoid disease following an operation for the removal of adenoid vegetations, 270.
Bacteria. The study of bacteriology, 171; the relation of bacteria to influenza, Jackson, H., 187; bacteriological and clinical investigations into the new antiseptic dermatol, Stone, A. K., 207; bacteriological chemistry, 222.
Baer, B. F. Supra-vaginal hysterectomy with sub-peritoneal treatment of stump without ligature, in operations for uterine fibromyomata, 409.
Baker, D. E. A case of vaginal hysterectomy for epithelioma, 498.
Baruch, S. Summer diarrhœa in children under two years, 457.
Baxter, G. A. A new operation for the radical cure of inguinal hernia, 577.
Beri-Beri in the Japanese Navy, 271.
Billings, J. S. Presentation to Sir George Buchanan, F.R.S., 175.
Binet. An arithmetical prodigy, 442.
Bibliography. Allingham, H. W., colotomy, inguinal, lumbar and transverse for cancer or stricture with ulceration of the large intestine, 413; American text-book of surgery for practitioners and students, 340; Anagnostakes, selections from Aristophanes, 462; Atkinson, E., the science of nutrition, 581; Ball, M. V., essentials of bacteriology, 270; Ballance C. A., and Edmunds, W., on the ligation of the great arteries in continuity, 317; Baudry, J. K., diseases of the nervous system, 146; Bobrick, G. A., hygienic requirements of school furniture, 413; Boston City Hospital, annual report, 23; Bourneville, recherches cliniques et thérapeutiques sur l'epilepsie l'hystérie et l'idiotie, 46; Brockway, F. J., essentials of medical physics, 533; Carpenter, W. B., the microscope and its revelations, 485; Chadwick, F. E., temperament, disease and health, 270; Charaka, 514; Charcot, clinique des maladies on systeme nerveux, 318; Davenport, F.H., diseases of women, 170; Forchheimer, F., the diseases of the mouth in children (non-surgical), 46; Gärtner, A., leitfaden der hygiene für studirende und arzte, 46; Gowers, W. R., a manual of diseases of the nervous system, 93; Hare, H. A., a system of practical therapeutics, 121; Helling, H., modern materia medica, 413; Herter, C. A., the diagnosis of diseases of the nervous system, 339; Hertwig, O., text-book of the embryology of man and mammals, 604; Hoffa, A., treatise on orthopedic surgery, 294; index catalogue of the history of the surgeon-general's office, 463; Ingals, E. F., diseases of the chest, throat and nasal cavities, 605; international medical annual and practitioners index for 1892, 318; Irwin, J. A., hydrotherapy of Saratoga, 270; Keating, J. M., et al., a new pronouncing dictionary of medicine, 439; King, W. P., stories of a country doctor, 581; Kostomoires, the twelfth book of Aëtios, 462; Levy, J. H., the bird that laid the vaccination egg, 246; Lovett, R. W., the etiology, pathology and treatment of diseases of the hip-joint, 93; Lutf, A. P., a manual of chemistry, inorganic and organic, 533; Maisch, J. M., a manual of organic materia medica, 413; Marie, P., Leçons sur les maladies de la moelle, 508; Martin, E., essentials of minor surgery and bandaging, 605; Martindale, W., the extra pharmacopœia, 533; Massachusetts State Board of Health, twenty-third annual report, 582; Medical News visiting-list, 605; Miner, J. A., complete obstetric record, 605; Moore, J. W., text-book of the eruptive and continued fevers, 46; Omerod, J. A., diseases of the nervous system, 70; Page, R. C. M., a text-book of the practice of medicine for the use of students and practitioners, 94; Paget, J., studies of old case books, 605; Park, R., the Mütter lectures on surgical pathology, 413; Parker, L., the law of public health and safety, and the powers and duties of boards of health, 631; Phokas, essay on influenza, with citations from Hippocrates, 462; physicians' pocket day-book, 605; physicians' visiting-list, 605; Powell, W. M., Saunder's pocket medical formulary, 581; Pye's surgical handicraft, 341; Rafter, G. M., the microscopical examination of potable water, 94; Remson, I., the principles of theoretical chemistry, with special reference to the constitution of chemical compounds, 509; Roberts, J. B., a manual of modern surgery, 604; Ross, W., the surgical treatment of neuralgia of the fifth nerve (Tic Douloureux) 340; Sawyer, H. A., Asheville or the sky land, 604; Semple, C. E. A., elements of materia medica and therapeutics, 533; Shaw, C. W., a text-book of nursing, 533; Shaw, J., epitome of mental diseases, 390; Sisley, R., a study of influenza and the laws of England concerning infectious diseases, 46; Skene, A. J. C , treatise on the diseases of women, for the use of students and practitioners, 198; Stevenson, T., a treatise on hygiene and public health, 631; Tebb, W., leprosy and vaccination, 246; Tuckey, C. L., psychotherapeutics or treatment by hypnotism and suggestion, 46; Tuke, D. H., a dictionary of psychological medicine, 340; Whittla, W., a dictionary of treatment or therapeutic index, including medical and surgical therapeutics, 509; Wilson, J. C., the international magazine pocket visiting-list, 485.
Biography. Amabile, L., 612; Bandl, L., 252; Bosley, G. H., 564; Bowditch, H. I., 177; Boyce, P., 166; Brady, S. J., 276; Brown, G., 323; Carpenper, W., 492; Chamberlin, D. T. P., 100; Clark, F. L. G., 128; Clark, H. G., 324; Cole, G. E., 396; Colles, W., 28; Condict, N. W., 28; Corradi, A., 612; Cowles, H., 372; Doherty, H., 128; Douglass, J. H., 348; Dwight, W., 492; Eastman, E. T., 492; Edgerly, D. M., 640; Fideli, G., 516; Fiske, W. B., 27, 51; Fithian, E., 516; Flint, K., 348; Geddings, W. H., 587; Gill, G. F., 28; Hooker, J., 52; Hooper, F. H., 538, 540; Hoy, P. R., 588; Jackson, A. R., 492; Johnson, F. V., 516; Jones, F., 52; Keiller, A., 396; Kimball, G., 128; Kinney, E. C., 420; Knox, J. S., 28; Lane, S., 176; Leaming, J. R., 564, 585; Lester, W., 640; Livingstone, W. C., 640; Lunney, G., 100; McCready, B. W., 176; Macleod, G. H., 224; Nasse, H., 128, Newberry, J. S., 585, 588; Oliver, F. E., 588, 611; Owen, W., 612; Pindell, W. N., 152; Potter, S. A., 52; Prevall, H., 444; Ray, J. A., 28; Reese, J. J., 252; Ross, J., 444; Ruppauer, A., 152; Scudder, C. D., 100; Shapleigh, E. B., 588; Sprague, R., 27; Terry, C. C., 76; Tortellot, J. Q. A., 444; Van Voast, G. W., 100; Villemin, J. A., 540; Watson, B. A., 640; Webster, C. E , 640; Wilcomb, W. W., 564; Wilkins, W. W., 252; Wood, T. F., 204.
Bissonette vs. Reed, 24.
Bladder. A case of sacculated bladder with autopsy, Cabot, A. T., 191.
Blake, C. J. Mastoid cases, 269; middle ear operation, 316; operation for removal of the stapes, 469; operation for removal of the stapes without ether, 551.

Blaylock, E. Obstetrical asepsis and antisepsis, 218.
Blindness. Legislation for the prevention of blindness, Cheney, F. E., 275.
Blodgett, A. N. Two cases of septic endocarditis, 289, 293.
Boldt, H. J. Vaginal hysterectomy for cancer of the uterus, 408.
Bolton, H. C. Historical notes on the gold cure, 97.
Boston Dispensary, 370.
Boston Sewers, 174.
Bowditch, H. I. Memorial meeting, 177.
Bowditch, V. Y. Report of committee relative to the condition of the streets of Boston, 336.
Bowen, J. T. The present position of electrolysis in the treatment of cutaneous affections, 77, 92; recent progress in dermatology, 309, 331.
Bradford, E. H. The operative treatment of resistant club-foot, 511; cases of pseudo-paralysis, 593, 601.
Bradford, E. H., and Brackett, E. G. Recent progress in orthopedic surgery, 619.
Brain. Gunshot wounds of the cerebrum, Ruth, C. E., 19; operative procedures at the base of the brain, Laplace, E., 22; on the extent of the visual area of the cortex in man as deduced from a study of Laura Bridgman's brain, Donaldson, H. A., 196; the criminal brain illustrated by the brain of a murderer, Donaldson, H. A., 196; description of a Chinese brain, Dercum, F. X., 197; a dog without a brain, Goltz, 251; a case of metastatic abscess of the brain, operation, death, Walton, G. L., 473; the circulatory changes which take place in the brain during psychical activity, 439; tumor of the brain, Gannett, W. W., 528.
Bremer, L. On the reflex theory in nervous disease, 346.
Briggs, H. M. Some remarks on the etiology of cerebral and cerebro-spinal meningitis, 460.
Broadbent. Zymotic diseases, 418.
Brokaw, A. V. L. Experiences in pelvic surgery, 557.
Brown, B. The simple, septic, traumatic and specific forms of cervicitis and their treatment, 603.
Brunsmann. The teeth of school children, 489.
Bryant, J. D. The feasibility of surgical interference in cases of acute meningitis, 461.
Bryan, T. H. A case of suppurating ethmoiditis, 18.
Bryne, J. Surgical treatment of cancer of the uterus, 387.
Buchanan, G. Presentation to Sir George Buchanan, F.R.S., 175.
Bull, C. S. A case of traumatic irido-choroiditis from contusion of the eyeball, ending in the development of intra-ocular glioma, 333; contribution to the subject of intracranial lesions with defects in the visual fields, five cases with autopsies, 336.
Bullard, W. N., and Wentworth, A. H. A peculiar form of nystagmus (Cheyne-Stokes nystagmus) with a case, 301, 313.
Bulette, L. D. Libel and slander of physicians, 466.
Buller. Foreign body in the retina, 333.
Bullets. A study of septic bullets, Lagarde, L. A , 490.
Burbank, A. H. Our mutual relations as medical men, 69.
Burnett, S. M. The general form of the human cornea and its relation to the refraction of the eye and visual acuteness, 334; some incidental phenomena of the shadow-test, 334.
Burr, C. R. Spinal birth palsies, a study of nine cases of "obstetric paralysis," 235, 242.
Burrell, H. L., and Cushing, H. W. Recent progress in surgery, 64, 87, 115, 479, 502.
Burrell, H. L., and Dwight, F. W. The treatment of compound fractures by modern methods, 229.
Cabot, A. T. A case of sacculated bladder with autopsy, 191; a fibroid tumor of the uterus, 265; cases of cholecystotomy with some remarks upon the technique of the operation, 547, 555.
Cæsarean Section. The elective Cæsarean section — the most favorable time for operation, Coe, H. C., 363.
Cambridge. A table of mortalities, Farnham, E., 84.
Cancer. The Mattei cure for cancer, 272; cancer of various abdominal and thoracic organs and sarcoma of the ovary in the same subject, Cutler, E. G., 329; surgical treatment of cancer of the uterus, Bryne, J., 387; vaginal hysterectomy for cancer of the uterus, Boldt, H. J., 408.
Cartledge, A. M. The present status of drainage in surgery, 602.
Chadwick, J. R. Medical education and the four years' course, 33.
Chambrelent. Pathology of puerperal eclampsia, 610.
Chancre. Micro-organism of the soft chancre, 295
Chapin, H. D. Summer diarrhœa in children under two years, 457.
Chapman, S. H. Some pathological conditions of the upper air passages coincident with attacks of "La Grippe," 15.
Charaka-Samhita, 415, 514.
Chase, H. L. Intermittent fever in Brookline, 565, 580.
Chemistry. Recent progress in medical chemistry, Hills, W. B., 138, 195; bacteriological chemistry, 222.
Cheney, F. E. Legislation for the prevention of blindness, 275.
Children. The surgical aspect of the paralysis of new-born children, Lovett, R. W., 8, 23; report on diseases of children, Rotch, T. M., 42; improved methods of modifying milk for infant feeding, Rotch, T. M., 56, and Jackson, H., 58; American childhood, 320; summer diarrhœa in children under two years, Chapin, H. D., 457, and Baruch, S., 457; the use of drugs in diarrhœa, indications for alkalies, acids, astringents and opiates, Mabbott, J. M., 458; feeding, sterilized food, general feeding, Koplik, H., 459; the teeth of school children, Brunsmann, 489; treatment of incontinence of urine in children, Townsend, C. W., 590, 599; recent progress in diseases of children, Rotch, T. M., 596; infantile scurvy, with notes of two cases, Rogers, O. F., 617; a case of infantile scurvy, Goss, F. W., 619.
Chloroform. Another investigation of chloroform, Hare, H. A., 395.
Chlorosis. Jones, E. L., 150; lesions of organs and tissues in chlorosis, 535.
Cholecystotomy, with remarks upon the technique of the operation, Cabot, A. T., 547, 555.
Cholera. Cholera in Europe, 48; cholera, 70; the pathogeny of cholera, 94; the origin and diffusion of cholera, Cornish, 202; inoculation against cholera, Haffkine, 227; treatment of cholera, 247; the artificial protection of animals against Asiatic cholera, 248; the cholera epidemic, 271; cremation of bodies dead with cholera, Ashmead, A. S., 274; observations on cholera, McCollom, J. H. 234, 311; what is being done in Boston to prevent the introduction and spread of cholera, Durgin, S. H., 306, 311; cholera and quarantine, 319; as cholera become naturalized in Europe? 319; popular impressions of cholera, 322; preventive measures for the individual during the prevalence of cholera, 322; preventive inoculation for cholera, 343; instruction in the diagnosis of Asiatic cholera, Ernst, H. C., 371; cholera, its propagation and treatment, Leale, C. A., 406; choleriform diseases in infants and young children, Smith, J. L., 407; bacteriological diagnosis in the cases which have lately occurred in New York, Dunham, E. K., 407; flies and cholera, Simmonds, 490; the comma bacillus, von Pettenkoffer, 585; the cholera germ in cigars and tobacco, 586.
Circulatory System. Air in the veins, Martin, E., 19; a case of popliteal aneurism, Cummings, G. H., 67; fatal hæmorrhage from the femoral artery, caused by a sloughing inguinal abscess, Homans, J., 86; chlorosis, Jones, E. L., 150; recent progress in thoracic disease, Sears, G. G., 163, 193; malignant endocarditis with report of two cases, Shattuck, G. B., 277, 292; two cases of ulcerative endocarditis, with autopsies, Mason, A. L., 287, 293; two cases of septic endocarditis, Blodgett, A. N., 289, 293; report of a case of ulcerative endocarditis, with rupture of cusp, autopsy, specimen, Ingraham, L. V., and Wolcott, G., 290, 292; a case of acute vegetative (malignant) endocarditis, Cobb, F. C., 291, 293; a bacillus producing gas in the blood-vessels after death, Welch and Nuttall, 467; two cases of malignant endocarditis, Cutler, E. G., 497, 504.
Club-Foot. The weight of the body in its relation to the pathology and treatment of club-foot, Judson, A. B., 280; operative treatment of resistant club-foot, Bradford, E. H., 341.
Coats, J. Personal recollections of delirium, 418.
Cobb, F. C. A case of acute vegetative (malignant) endocarditis, 291, 293.
Coe, H. C. The elective Cæsarean section — the most favorable time for operation, 363.
Cœliotomy after labor, Parish, W. H., 386.
Coggin, D. Some disadvantages of the metric system, 443.
Color-Blindness. The remedies for defective color-vision, 370.
Cord. Twisting of the umbilical cord, Allen, F. J , 490.
Cornish. The origin and diffusion of cholera, 202.
Councilman, W. T. Dysentery, 1.
Craigin, G. A. Analysis of twenty five cases of hydatidiform moles, 231.
Cremation of bodies dead with cholera, Ashmead, A. S., 274.
Cummings, G. H. A case of popliteal aneurism, 67.
Cunningham, R. M. The general practitioner as a gynecologist, 580.
Cushing, E. W. A case of large cyst of the kidney, nephrectomy, recovery, 263, 266; four cases of vaginal hysterectomy, 267; specimens, 435.
Cushing, H. W. A successful case of nephrectomy for pyelonephritis with calculi, 257, 266.
Cutaneous System. The present position of electrolysis in the treatment of cutaneous affections, Bowen, J. T., 77, 92; an improved method of removing vascular growths of the skin by electrolysis, Prince, M., 80; recent progress in dermatology, Bowen, J. T., 309, 331; some modifications of Thiersch's method of skin-grafting, Watson, F. S., 405.
Cutler, E. G. Cancer of various abdominal and thoracic organs and sarcoma of the ovary in the same subject, 329; two cases of malignant endocarditis, 497, 504.
Cutts, H. M. Complex forms and sequelæ of intermittent fever, 567, 580.
DaCosta, J. M. The relation of albuminuria to excessive uric acid secretion and oxaluria, 589.
Dane, J. A study of flat-foot with special attention to the development of the arch of the foot, 401, 430, 447.
Davenport, B. F. Recent progress in foods, drugs and articles of domestic use, 240, 264.
Davenport, F. H. Recent progress in gynecology, 360.
Davis, E. P. Retro-peritoneal tuberculosis, simulating hernia, 386.
Day, F. L. A case of pancreatitis and hæmorrhage with a few remarks on the clinical aspects of pancreatic inflammation, 569.
Death. The evolutionary significance of decay and death, 172.
Deaver, J. B. and Mills C. K. A case in which exploratory trephining and ligation of the vertebral artery were performed; autopsy showed gliomatosis of the cerebellum, pons and oblongata, with hydrocephalus and hydrorachis; opening in the skull from continued pressure, 221.
DeBlois, T. A. The after-results of nasal cauterization, 18
Delavan, D. B. On the influence of certain diathetic conditions upon the prognosis in operations upon the throat, 15.
Delirium. Personal recollections of delirium, Coats, J., 418.
Dercum, F. P. Description of a Chinese brain, 197.
Dermatol. Bacteriological and clinical investigations into the new antiseptic, dermatol, Stone, A. K., 207.
DeSchweinitz, G. E. Hyaline bodies (Drusen) in the nerve head, 334.
Diet. The proper diet for hot weather, 47.
Digestive System. Dysentery, Councilman, W. T., 1; visceral phlebotomy, Harley, G., 19; appendicitis, Marshall, N. M., 68; two cases of relapsing appendicitis, operation between attacks, cure, Homans, J., 86; the treatment of appendicitis, Worcester, A., 101, 118; remarks on the surgical treatment of appendicitis, Richardson, M. H., 105, 118; appendicitis, summary of cases, Elliott, J. W., 111, 118; summer indigestion and ptomaine poisoning, the Salisbury Beach sickness, 123; the diagnosis and symptoms of acute intestinal obstruction, Shattuck, F. C., 129, 144; the surgical aspects of acute intestinal obstruction, Homans, J., 131, 144; acute intestinal obstruction, Irish, J. C., Warren, J. C., 144; a case of intestinal antisepsis in typhoid fever, Leidy, J. N., 150; electricity in the treatment of gastralgia and atonic dyspepsia, Rockwell, A. D., 160; gall-stones, Richardson, M. H., 164; the association of hysterical trembling and anorexia nervosa, with report of a case, Lloyd, J. H., 198; the treatment of dysentery, 200; treatment of enteric fever with calomel, Eliot, G., 226; a case of intestinal obstruction relieved by laparotomy and separation of adhesions between the sigmoid flexure and the uterus, 357; forms of appendicitis which are amenable to strictly medical or expectant treatment, 366; the gastric disorders of phthisis, pathogeny and treatment of vomiting, 414; stomatitis due to irritation of epithelial pearls in the mouth of new-born children, Garrigues, H. J., 438; a case of ranula, Smith, J. L., 456; summer diarrhœa in children under two years, Chapin, H. D., 457; Baruch, S., 457; the use of drugs in diarrhœa, indications for alkalies, acids, astringents and opiates, Mabbott, J. M., 458; feeding, sterilized food, general feeding, Koplik, H., 459; surgery of the appendix vermiformis, Treves, F., 466; congestion of the liver, its etiology and treatment, 486; the teeth of school children, 489; cases of cholecystotomy, with some remarks upon the technique of the operation, Cabot, A. T., 547; specimens of the vermiform appendix, Richardson, M. H., 555; a new operation for the radical cure of inguinal hernia, Baxter, G. A., 577; the cure of inguinal hernia in the male, Marcy, H. O., 577; the treatment of umbilical and ventral hernia, Wathen, W. H., 578; intestinal anastomosis by a new device, Grant, H. H., 578.

Diphtheria. The treatment of diphtheria, Maybury, W. J., 68; diphtheria and allied pseudo-membranous inflammations, Park, W. H., 226; strong hydrogen peroxide solutions, locally, in diphtheria, Williams, F. H., 303, 313.

Disease. The prevention of disease in Massachusetts, Adams, J. F. A., 29, 53.

Disinfection. The importance of public disinfecting stations, Abbott, S. W., 286, 311.

Dixon, W. A. The offspring of mulattoes, 203.

Dog without a brain, Goltz, 251.

Donaldson, H. A. On the extent of the visual area of the cortex in man, as deduced from a study of Laura Bridgman's brain, 196; the criminal brain, illustrated by the brain of a murderer, 196.

Drainage in surgery, Cartledge, A. M., 602.

Drew, F. H. An outbreak of trichinosis in Colrain, 61.

Druggists. Incompetent druggists and counter prescribing, 440.

Drugs. Recent progress in foods, drugs and articles of domestic use, Davenport, B. F., 240, 264.

Dublin. The tercentenary of Dublin University, 72.

Dudley, A. P. Umbilical hernia in the female with report of five cases, 438.

Dunham, E. K. Bacteriological diagnosis in the cholera cases which have lately occurred in New York, 407.

Durgin, S. H. What is being done in Boston to prevent the introduction and spread of cholera, 308, 311.

Dwight, T. Recent progress in anatomy, 454.

Dysentery. Councilman, W. T., 1; the treatment of dysentery, 200.

Ear. Injurious effects of the telephone upon hearing, Gellé, 50; cases of mastoid diseases exhibiting somewhat extensive carious processes, Pomeroy, O. D., 267; preliminary craniometric studies in relation to aural anatomy, Randall, B. A., 269; purulent inflammation of the middle ear, Kipp, C. J., 269; mastoid cases, Blake, C. J., 269; case of chronic purulent otitis media, old pulmonary tuberculosis, opening of mastoid, death from acute basilar meningitis, autopsy, Knapp, H., 269; a case of pyæmia following acute suppurative otitis, recovery, Emerson, J. B., 269; mastoid operation in a case of middle-ear disease, with septicæmic symptoms and cerebral complications, Sutphen, T. Y., 269; a case of mastoid disease, following an operation for the removal of adenoid vegetations, Bacon, G., 270; the value of weak solutions of bichloride of mercury in the treatment of otitis media suppurativa, Theobald, S., 270; remarkable improvement in hearing by removal of the stapes, Jack, F. L., 315; middle-ear operations, Blake, C. J., 316; wound of the lateral sinus in the course of mastoid operation followed by septicæmia, with recovery, Roosa, D. B. St. John, 316; excision of membrane and malleus for catarrhal deafness, followed by suppuration, mastoid empyema and burrowing abscess of the neck, Randall, B. A., 316; case of exostosis of external auditory meatus, Roosa, D. B. St. John, 317; removal of the stapes in chronic catarrhal otitis and in chronic suppurative otitis media, Jack, F. L., 445, 476; operation for removal of the stapes, Blake, C. J., 460; contributions to aural surgery, Roosa, D. B. St. John, 470; operation for removal of the stapes without ether, Blake, C. J., 551.

Editorials. Annual report of the Boston City Hospital, 23; Bissonette vs. Reed, 24; the proper diet for hot weather, 47; cholera in Europe, 48; cholera, 70; the treatment of asthma by iodide of potassium, 71; the tercentenary of Dublin University, 72; the next annual meeting of the American Public Health Association, 72; the pathogeny of cholera, 94; changes in medical laws in Massachusetts, 95; influenza in New South Wales, 122; summer indigestion and ptomaine poisoning, the Salisbury Beach sickness, 123; medicine as a liberal profession, 147; researches on the action of certain alkaloidal poisons on the leucocytes, 147; hereditary criminals and insanity, 171; the study of bacteriology, 171; the evolutionary significance of decay and death, 172; the Lancet special analytical commission on arsenical wall-papers, 199; the treatment of dysentery, 200; bacteriological chemistry, 223; shall there be a four years' course? 225; is there any special diet appropriate for the seasons or for different kinds of work? 246; treatment of cholera, 247; the artificial protection of animals against Asiatic cholera, 248; the cholera epidemic, 271; beri-beri in the Japanese navy, 271; the Mattei cure for cancer, 272; micro-organism of the soft chancre, 295; the motor functions of the so-called excitable regions of the cerebral cortex, 296; cholera and quarantine, 319; has cholera become naturalized in Europe? 319; American childhood, 320; the discussion on the treatment of chronic Bright's disease at the French Academy of Medicine, 341; fusion of hands, 343; preventive inoculation for cholera, 343; forms of appendicitis which are amenable to strictly medical or expectant treatment, 366; the use of stimulants by women, 367; on the treatment of placenta prævia, 390; the human eye as affected by civilization, 391; the medical career and happiness in life, 392; the gastric disorders of phthisis, pathogeny and treatment of vomiting, 414; charaka-sambhita, 415; the circulatory changes that take place in the brain during psychical activity, 439; incompetent druggists and counter prescribing, 440; the index catalogue of the library of the surgeon-general's office, thirteenth volume, 463; the new operating theatre for Roosevelt Hospital, 463; physique of French army recruits, 464; high amputation for senile gangrene, 464; congestion of the liver, its etiology and treatment, 486; "mercantile medicine," 487; the discussion on cerebral localizations at the fifth congress of the Italian Society of internal medicine, 510; improvement of quarantine, 511; a bureau of hygiene and sanitation of the Columbian Exposition, 512; experimental teratogeny, 534; the brain centres of the emotions; are there such centres? 535; lesions of organs and tissues in chlorosis, 535; notification of infectious diseases, 559; is alcoholism increasing among American women? 560; the twenty-third annual report of the State Board of Health of Massachusetts, 582; acute pancreatitis, 583; the advantages and disadvantages of federal quarantine, 583; the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association in Mexico, 606; the fiftieth annual report of the vital statistics of Massachusetts, 607; annus medicus, MDCCCXCII, 632.

Education. Medical education and the four years' course, Chadwick, J. R., 33; Eliot, C. W., 33; Pepper, W., 35; Welch, W. H., 36; White, J. C., 38; the kind and amount of laboratory work which shall be required in our medical schools, Vaughan, V. C., 212; shall there be a four years' course? 225.

Eiselsberg. Inhibition of growth in sheep after thyroidectomy, 490.

Electricity. The present position of electrolysis in the treatment of cutaneous affections, J. T., 77, 92; an improved method of removing vascular growths of the skin by electrolysis, Prince, M., 80; the electrical resistance of the urine, Tucker, D., 127; electricity in the treatment of gastralgia and atonic dyspepsia, Rockwell, A. D., 160; discussion of electrical execution, 346.

Eliot, C. W. Medical education and the four years' course, 33.

Eliot, G. Treatment of enteric fever with calomel, 226.

Elliot, J. W. Appendicitis, a summary of cases, 111, 118.

Emerson, J. B. A case of pyæmia following acute suppurative otitis, recovery, 269.

Endocarditis Malignant endocarditis with report of two cases, Shattuck, G. B., 277, 292; two cases of ulcerative endocarditis, with autopsies, Mason, A. L., 287, 293; two cases of septic endocarditis, Blodgett, A. N., 289, 293; report of a case of ulcerative endocarditis with rupture of cusp, autopsy, specimen, Ingraham, L. V., and Wolcott, G., 290, 292; a case of acute vegetative (malignant) endocarditis, Cobb, F. C., 291, 293.

Epilepsy. Researches upon the etiology of idiopathic epilepsy, Herter, C. A., 141; sleep movements of epilepsy, Putnam, J. W., 142; the seat of absinthe epilepsy, Ott, I., 143; separate provision for epileptics both public and private, Stedman, H. R., 168; report upon the surgical treatment of epilepsy, Sachs, B., 169.

Ernst, H. C. Instruction in the diagnosis of Asiatic cholera, 371.

Evans, J. Shock, 603.

Ewing, C. B. The treatment of wounds from the aspect of germ infection, 379.

Eye. The importance of correcting ocular defects in functional nervous disorders, Walton, G. L., and Cheney, F. E., 153, 165; on the extent of the visual area of the cortex in man, as deduced from a study of Laura Bridgman's brain, Donaldson, H. A., 196; legislation for the prevention of blindness, Cheney, F. E., 275; ocular headaches, their cause, characteristics and treatment, Standish, M., 326, 337; history of a case of gunpowder injuries to both corneæ, irides and lenses, with subsequent restoration of vision to almost full acuity, Oliver, C. A., 332; removal of a fragment of steel from the vitreous chamber by means of the electro-magnet, with preservation of nearly normal vision, Theobald, S., 333; foreign body in the retina, Buller, 333; a case of traumatic iridochoroiditis from contusion of the eyeball, ending in the development of intraocular glioma, Bull, C. S., 333; hyaline bodies (Drusen) in the nerve head, de Schweinitz, G. E., 334; two cases of symmetrically placed opacities of the cornea, occurring in mother and son, Oliver, C. A., 334; the prime etiological factor of glaucoma is constitutional, Richey, S. O., 334; the full correction of myopia, Jackson, E., 334; constant correction of high myopia, Harlan, G. C., 334; the general form of the human cornea and its relation to the refraction of the eye and visual acuteness, Burnett, S. M., 334; some incidental phenomena of the shadow-test, Burnett, S. M., 334; the law of symmetry of our eyes, as manifested in the direction of their meridians, its rules and exceptions, Knapp, H., 335; the clinical value of repeated careful correction of manifest refractive error in plastic iritis, Oliver, C. A., 335; some tenotomies of recti muscles for insufficiencies, Pomeroy, O. D., 336; prominent symptoms of hyperphoria, Hansell, H. F., 336; contribution to the subject of intracranial lesions, with defects in the visual fields, five cases with autopsies, Bull, C. S., 336; the eye of the negro, Kollock, C. W., 364; cases of monocular amblyopia in members of the same family, Kollock, C. W., 365; on the frequency of posterior capsular opacities at the place of attachment of the hyaloid artery, Mittendorf, W. F., 365; preparations of the nerves of the cornea, Koller, C., 365; scleral puncture in detachment of the retina, Sutphen, T. Y., 365; recurrent bilateral inflammation of the capsule of Tenon, in connection with mercurial poisoning, Kipp, C. J., 365; pulsating exophthalmus, Reeve, R. A., 366; subconjunctival application of cocaine, Koller, C., 366; the remedies for defective color-vision, 370; eye-paralysis, Jeffries, J. A., 373, 389, 397; the human eye as affected by civilization, 391; recent progress in ophthalmology, Standish, M., 553, 573.

Farnham, E. A table of mortalities, Cambridge, 84.

Fat. A case of disseminated fat necrosis, Harrington, F. B., 84, 90.

Fell, G. E. Forced respiration; Fell-method of face-mask and tracheotomy in diphtheria, 20.

Field-Mice. The pest of field mice in Thessaly and Mœffler's successful method of combating it, 250.

Fitz, R. H. Acute pancreatitis, 571.

Food. Recent progress in foods, drugs and articles of domestic use, Davenport, B. F., 240, 264; is there any special diet appropriate for the seasons or for different kinds of work? 246; feeding, sterilized food, general feeding, Koplik, H., 459.

Foot. Pain in the sole of the foot no walking, Putnam, J. J., 214; the prehensile foot of the East Indians, Regnault, 250; a study of flat-foot with special attention to the development of the arch of the foot, Dane, J., 401, 431, 447.

Forster, E. J. Spontaneous reduction of a chronically inverted and completely prolapsed uterus, 39, 45.

Foster, B. B. Urethral stricture, with some suggestions as regards treatment, 67.

Fractures. Treatment of compound fractures, Myers, W. H., 21;

the powerful effect of sulphonal in arresting the cramps of fractured limbs and other reflex spasms, Andrew, E., 21; the treatment of compound fractures by modern methods, Burrell, H. L., and Dwight, E. W., 229; the treatment of ununited fractures by resection, Roberts, H. O., 578.
French army recruits, their physique, 464.
Fuller, S. W. The differentiation of the bacillus of typhoid fever, 205.
Gangrene. High amputation for senile gangrene, 464.
Gannett, W. W. Tumor of the brain, 528.
Garrigues, H. J. Stomatitis due to irritation of epithelial pearls in the mouth of new-born children, 438.
Gaston, J. M. Compatability of conservative and aggressive surgery, 579.
Gay, G. W. A case of nephrolithotomy, removal of calculus weighing five ounces, recovery, 134.
Gelle. Injurious effects of the telephone upon hearing, 50.
Generative System. The cremasteric reflex in varicocele, McGraw, T. A., 19; amputation of the scrotum and circumcision, Ricketts, B. M., 20; spontaneous reduction of a chronically inverted and completely prolapsed uterus, Forster, E. J., 39, 45; vaginal secretions, Williams, J. W., 74; a fibroid tumor of the uterus, Cabot, A. T., 265; four cases of vaginal hysterectomy, Cushing, E. W., 267; periodical intermenstrual pain, Palmer, C. D., 361; complications during and after the operation in a few recent cases of abdominal and pelvic surgery, Wathen, W. H., 362; a specimen of lithopedion and also one of fibroid tumor which very much resembled the lithopedion, Lusk, W. T., 362; certain aspects of gonorrhœa in women, Noble, C. P., 386; surgical treatment of cancer of the uterus, Bryne, J., 387; vaginal hysterectomy for cancer of the uterus, Boldt, H. J., 408; supra-vaginal hysterectomy with sub-peritoneal treatment of stump without ligature, in operations for uterine fibro-myomata, Baer, B. F., 409; supra-vaginal hysterectomy for uterine fibroids, report of fourteen cases, Polk, W. M., 409; can we prevent secondary hæmorrhage after ovariotomy? Hanks, H. T., 410; hyperæsthesia of the vaginal orifice a cause of reflex pelvic pain, Strong, C. P., 496; a case of vaginal hysterectomy for epithelioma, Baker, D. E., 498; total extirpation of the uterus, improved method of treating the stump, Strong, C. P., 520, 530; experiences in pelvic surgery, Brokaw, A. V. L., 557; a preliminary report on the morphology of ovarian and myomatous tumors, Kelly, H. A., 580; a case of fibro-myoma of the vagina, Green, C. M., 594; bacteriological research in its relations to the surgery of the genito-urinary organs, Lydston, G. F., 602; the simple, septic, traumatic and specific forms of cervicitis and their treatment, Brown, B., 603; treatment of complete prolapse of the uterus, Irish, J. C., 613.
Gerrish, F. H. The remedial uses of hypnotism, 69.
Godfrey, J. The probable advantages of quarantine and the proper method of conducting it, 407.
Gold-Cure. Historical notes on the gold-cure, Bolton, H. C., 97.
Goldthwait, J. E. The forcible straightening of angular deformities of the knee by means of special mechanical appliances, 517, 529.
Goltz. A dog without a brain, 251.
Gonorrhœa in women, Noble, C. P., 386.
Goss, F. W. A case of infantile scurvy, 619.
Grandin, E. H. Accouchement forcé in certain obstetrical complications, with remarks on the treatment of post-partum hæmorrhage, 387.
Grant, H. H. Intestinal anastomosis by a new device, 578.
Gray, L. C. A case of Huntington's chorea; also one of congenital Huntington's chorea, the first on record, 242.
Green, C. M. Recent progress in obstetrics, 215; a case of fibromyoma of the vagina, 594.
Greenleaf, C. R. The necessity of a properly organized hospital corps in the National Guard, 493.
Gross. The S. D. Gross Professorship of pathological anatomy, 537.
Gunshot Wound. An unusual gunshot injury, Mumford, J. G., 358.
Gynecology. Recent progress in gynecology, Davenport, F. H., 360.
Haffkine. Inoculation against cholera, 227.
Haggard, W. D. A case of extensive hematocele resulting from tubal pregnancy rupturing into the broad ligament, 558.
Hanks, H. T. Can we prevent secondary hæmorrhage after ovariotomy? 410.
Hansell, H. F. Prominent symptoms of hyperphoria, 336.
Hare, H. A. Another investigation of chloroform, 395.
Harlan, G. C. Constant correction of high myopia, 334.
Harley, G. Visceral phlebotomy, 19.
Harrington, F. B. A case of disseminated fat necrosis, 84, 90.
Harris, R. The Tocci brothers, 150; the word laparotomy, 346; the remarkable results of antiseptic symphisiotomy, 385.
Hayward, G. G. Placenta prævia, 424, 433.
Heat. The effect of heat as manifested in workmen in sugar refineries, 274.
Heidelberg. Letter from Heidelberg, 539.
Hernia. Retro-peritoneal tuberculosis, simulating hernia, Davis, E. P., 386; umbilical hernia in the female, with report of five cases, Dudley, A. P., 438; a new operation for the radical cure of inguinal hernia, Baxter, G. A., 577; the cure of inguinal hernia in the male, Marcy, H. O., 577; the treatment of umbilical and ventral hernia, Wathen, W. H., 578.
Herter, C. A. Researches upon the etiology of idiopathic epilepsy, 141.
Hills, W. B. Recent progress in medical chemistry, 138, 195.
Hime, T. W. The successful transformation of small-pox into cow-pox, 127.
Hip. Is amputation ever indicated in coxitis? Mynter, H., 18; a transient or ephemeral form of hip-disease, with a report of cases, Lovett, R. W., and Morse, J. L., 161; a clinical classification of hip-disease, Lovett, R. W., 354.
Hogan, S. M. Fibroid tumor of the uterus, pregnancy, rupture about the fourth month, operation, specimen, 558.
Holden, A. B. Diseases among Indians, 203.
Homans, J. Fatal hæmorrhage from the femoral artery caused by a sloughing inguinal abscess, 86; two cases of relapsing appendicitis, operation between attacks, cure, 86; obstruction to labor threatened by a dermoid cyst of the ovary, with a long pedicle, ovariotomy, recovery, 87; the surgical aspects of acute intestinal obstruction, 131, 146.
Hooper, F. H. Report on laryngology and rhinology, 381.
Hospitals. Annual report of the Boston City Hospital, 23; a paper hospital, 563.
Hospital Corps. The necessity of a properly organized hospital corps in the National Guard, Greenleaf, C. R., 493.
Hughes and Carter. The treatment of pneumonia by transfusion of blood from a convalescent case, 442.
Huntington's Chorea, Gray, L. C., 242.
Hydatids. Analysis of twenty-five cases of hydatidiform moles, Craigin, G. A., 230.
Hygiene, Health and Boards of Health. Boston sewers, 174; National health legislation and quarantine, Walcott, H. P., 307, 311; what is being done in Boston to prevent the introduction and spread of cholera, Durgin, S. H., 308, 311; report of committee relative to the condition of the streets of Boston, Bowditch, V. Y., 336; sms against sanitation at Rouen and Hamburg, 418; a bureau of hygiene and sanitation of the Columbian exposition, 512; the twenty-third annual report of the State Board of Health of Massachusetts, 582.
Hypnotism. The remedial uses of hypnotism, Gerrish, F. H., 69.
Hysteria. The association of hysterical trembling and anorexia nervosa, Lloyd, J. H., 198.
India. Poisoning in India, 417.
Indians. Diseases among Indians, Holden, A. B., 203.
Infectious Diseases. Notification of infectious diseases, 579.
Influenza in New South Wales, 122; the relation of bacteria to influenza, Jackson, H., 187; the nervous and mental sequelæ of influenza, Knapp, P. C., 253; another case of chronic neuritis following influenza, Putnam, J. J., 405; influenza, Roteh, T. M., 599.
Ingraham, La V., and Wolcott, G. Report of a case of ulcerative endocarditis with rupture of cusp, autopsy, specimen, 290, 292.
Instruments and Apparatus. Axis-traction forceps, Warren, S. P., 68; a modification of Thomas's wrench, 508; the forcible straightening of angular deformities of the knee by means of special mechanical appliances, Goldthwait, J. E., 517, 529.
Intermittent Fever in Brookline, Chase, H. L., 565; complex forms and sequelæ of intermittent fever, Cutts, H. M., 566, 580.
Irish, J. C. Acute intestinal obstruction, 144; treatment of complete prolapse of the uterus, 613.
Jack, F. L. Remarkable improvement in hearing by removal of the stapes, 315; removal of the stapes in chronic catarrhal otitis media and in chronic suppurative otitis media, 445, 476.
Jackson, E. The full correction of myopia, 334.
Jackson, H. Improved methods of modifying milk for infant feeding, 58; the relation of bacteria to influenza, 187.
Jacobi, A. Guaiacol in the treatment of tuberculosis, 586.
Jahsow. The sense of smell, 442.
Japan. Beri-beri in the Japanese navy, 271.
Jeffries, J. A. Eye paralysis, 373, 389, 397.
Johnson, J. T. Ovariotomy in old women, 603.
Jones, F. L. Chlorosis, 150.
Judson, A. B. The weight of the body in its relation to the pathology and treatment of club-foot, 280.
Jurisprudence. Bissonette vs. Reed, 24; baby-farm law, 74; changes in medical laws in Massachusetts, 95; the Maryland medical law, 98.
Kellogg, T. H. The toxic origin of insanity, 243.
Kelly, H. A. A preliminary report on the morphology of ovarian and myomatous tumors, 580.
Kingman, R. A. The vomiting of pregnancy, 427, 435.
Kipp, C. J. Purulent inflammation of the middle ear, 269; recurrent, bilateral inflammation of the capsule of Tenon, in connection with mercurial poisoning, 365.
Knapp, P. C. Traumatic nervous affections, 223; the nervous and mental sequelæ of influenza, 253.
Kœnig. Transitory dulness at the apices of the lung, 490.
Koller, C. Preparations of the nerves of the cornea, 365; sub-conjunctival application of cocaine, 366.
Kollock, C. Craniotomy upon the living fœtus is not justifiable, 558.
Kollock, C. W. The eye of the negro, 364; cases of monocular amblyopia in members of the same family, 365.
Koplik, H. A case of microcephalus, 457; feeding, sterilized food, general feeding, 459.
Korea. Letter from Korea, Stephenson, F. B., 75.
Knapp, H. Case of chronic purulent otitis media, old pulmonary tuberculosis, opening of mastoid, death from acute basilar meningitis, autopsy, 269; the law of symmetry of our eyes as manifested in the direction of their meridians, its rules and exceptions, 335.
Knight, F. I. Pharyngo-mycosis, 15.
Laboratory. The kind and amount of laboratory work which shall be required in our medical schools, Vaughan, V. C., 212.
Lagarde, L. A. A study of septic bullets, 490.
Laparotomy. The word laparotomy, Harris, R. P., 346.
Laplace, E. Operative procedures at the base of the brain, 22.
Larynx. Report on laryngology and rhinology, Hooper, F. H., 381.
Leale, C. A. Cholera, its propagation and treatment, 406.
Leidy, J., Jr. A case of intestinal antisepsis in typhoid fever, 150.
Leucocytes. Researches on the action of certain alkaloidal poisons on the leucocytes, 147.
Libel and slander of physicians, Bulette, L. D., 466,
Life Insurance. The business of examining for insurance companies, 150.
Lithopedion. A case of lithopedion and also one of fibroid tumor which very much resembled the lithopedion, Lusk, W. T., 362.
Liver. Congestion of the liver, its etiology and treatment, 486.
Lloyd, J. H. The association of hysterical trembling and anorexia nervosa with report of a case, 198.
London Letter, 491, 515.
Lovett, R. W. The surgical aspect of the paralysis of new-born children, 8, 23; a clinical classification of hip-disease, 354.
Lovett, R. W., and Morse, J. L. A transient or ephemeral form of hip-disease with a report of cases, 161.
Lupus from inoculation of tubercle bacillus, Wolters, 466.

Lusk, W. T. A specimen of lithopedion and also one of fibroid tumor which very much resembled the lithopedion, 362.
Lydston, G. F. Bacteriological research in its relation to the surgery of the genito-urinary organs, 602.
McCollom, J. H. Trichinosis, 59; observations on cholera, 284.
McCurdy, S. L. Amputation in the light of mechanical science vs. prothetical science, 21.
McGraw, T. A. The cremasteric reflex in varicocele, 19.
Mattei cure for cancer, 272.
Mabbott, J. M. The use of drugs in diarrhœa, indications for alkalies, acids, astringents and opiates, 458.
Malaria. Malaria in Cambridge and vicinity, Stevens, E. H., 614; malaria in Boston and vicinity, Townsend, C. W., 615.
Marcy, H. O. An operation for renal calculus, 137; the cure of inguinal hernia in the male, 577.
Marshall, N. M. Appendicitis, 68.
Martin, E. Air in the vein, 19.
Maryland. The Maryland medical law, 98.
Mason, A. L. Two cases of ulcerative endocarditis with autopsies, 287, 293.
Massachusetts. Changes in medical laws in Massachusetts, 95; the necessity of a revision of the classification and nomenclature employed in the vital statistics of Massachusetts, Abbott, S. W., 113; the fiftieth annual report of the vital statistics of Massachusetts, 607.
Materia Medica and Therapeutics. The powerful effect of sulphonal in arresting the cramps of fractured limbs and other reflex spasms, Andrew, E., 21; piperazin, 26; the treatment of asthma by iodide of potassium, 71; historical notes on the gold cure, Bolton, H. C., 97; the crusade against opium in India, 151; aconite poisoning, Robinson, S. Q., 192; bacteriological and clinical investigations with the new antiseptic, dermatol, Stone, A. K., 207; obstetrical asepsis and antisepsis, Blaylock, E., 218; antipyretics in fever, Smith, A. N., 220; treatment of enteric fever with calomel, Eliot, G., 226; recent progress in foods, drugs and articles of domestic use, Davenport, B. F., 240; the value of weak solutions of bichloride of mercury in the treatment of otitis media suppurativa, Theobald, S., 270; strong hydrogen peroxide solutions locally in diphtheria, Williams, F. H., 303, 313; three cases of acute mania from inhaling carbon bisulphide, Peterson, F., 325.
Maybury, W. J. The treatment of diphtheria, 68.
Mays, T. J. Phthisis in its relation to insanity, 245.
Medicine as a liberal profession, 147.
Meningitis. Some remarks on the etiology of cerebral and cerebro-spinal meningitis, Briggs, H. M., 460; the feasibility of surgical interference in cases of acute meningitis, Bryant, J. D., 461.
"Mercantile Medicine," 487.
Metric System. Some disadvantages of the metric system, Coggin, D., 443.
Microcephalus. A case of microcephalus, Koplik, H., 457.
Milk. Conveyance of immunity by milk, 26; improved methods of modifying milk for infant feeding, Rotch, T. M., 56, Jackson, H., 58.
Mills, C. K. Folie à deux, with remarks on similar types of insanity, 220; a case of rapidly fatal motor and sensory paralysis, with autopsy showing acute myelitis mainly of the dorsal cord, 221.
Mind. Recent progress in mental diseases, Stedman, H. R., 12; hereditary criminals and insanity, 171; folie á deux, with remarks on similar types of insanity, Mills, C. K., 220; the toxic origin of insanity, Kellogg, T. H., 243; a study on the sensory and sensory-motor disturbances associated with insanity from a biological and physiological standpoint, Tomlinson, H. A., 244; phthisis in its relation to insanity, Mays, T. J., 245; three cases of acute mania from inhaling carbon bisulphide, Peterson, F., 325.
Mittendorf, W. F. On the frequency of posterior capsular opacities at the place of attachment of the hyaloid artery, 365.
Mixter, S. J. Cancerous kidney, removed by laparotomy, recovery, 262, 266.
Monstrosities. The Tocci brothers, Harris, R. P., 150; fusion of hands, 343; a case of microcephalus, Koplik, H., 457; experimental teratogeny, 534.
Mosny. Broncho-pneumonia, 98.
Mulattoes. The offspring of mulattoes, Dixon, W. A., 203.
Mumford, J. G. An unusual gunshot injury, 358.
Muscles. Some contributions to the muscular sense, Preston, G. J., 196.
Myers, W. H. Treatment of compound fractures, 21; a modification of Thomas's wrench, 508; the treatment of tubercular peritonitis, 602.
Mynter, H. Is amputation ever indicated in coxitis? 18.
Myxœdema. The treatment of myxœdema, 417.
Neck. A case of broken neck with autopsy, Otis, E. O., 261, 265.
Negro. The offspring of mulattoes, Dixon, W. A., 203; the eye of the negro, Kollock, C. W., 364.
Nervous System. The surgical aspect of the paralysis of new-born children, Lovett, R. W., 8, 23; gunshot wounds of the cerebrum, Ruth, C. E., 19; neurectomy of the great sciatic nerve for painful neuroma as the result of a gunshot injury, Ricketts, B. M., 20; research upon the etiology and idiopathic epilepsy, Herter, C. A., 141; sleep movements of epilepsy, Putnam, J. W., 142; the seat of absinthe epilepsy, Ott, I., 143; a new symptom indicating combined cerebellar and spinal inco-ordination, Spitzka, E. C., 143; the importance of correcting ocular defects in functional nervous disorders, Walton, G. L., and Cheney, F. E., 153, 165; separate provision for epileptics both public and private, Stedman, H. R., 168; a further contribution to the pathology of arrested cerebral development, Sachs, B., 168; report upon the surgical treatment of epilepsy, Sachs, B., 169; some contributions to the muscular sense, Preston, G. J., 196; on the extent of the visual area of the cortex in man as deduced from the study of Laura Bridgman's brain, Donaldson, H. A., 196; the criminal brain illustrated by the brain of a murderer, Donaldson, H. A., 196; description of a Chinese brain, Dercum, F. X., 197; the association of hysterical trembling and anorexia nervosa, with report of a case, Lloyd, J. H., 198; folie à deux, with remarks on similar types of insanity, Mills, C. K., 220; a case of rapidly fatal motor and sensory paralysis, with autopsy showing acute myelitis, mainly of the dorsal cord, Mills, C. K., 221; a case in which exploratory trephining and ligation of the vertebral artery were performed, autopsy showed gliomatosis of the cerebellum, pons and oblongata, with hydrocephalus and hydrorachis, opening in the skull from continued pressure, Deaver, J. B., and Mills, C. K., 221; traumatic nervous affections, Knapp, P. C., 222; spinal birth palsies, a study of nine cases of "obstetric paralysis," Burr, C. B., 235, 242; a case of Huntington's chorea, also one of congenital Huntington's chorea, the first on record, Gray, L. C., 242; the treatment of syphilitic nervous affections, Spitzka, E. C., 243; a study in the sensory and sensory-motor disturbances associated with insanity from a biological and physiological standpoint, Tomlinson, H. A., 244; a case of akinesia algera, Putnam, J. J., 245; cephalic tetanus, Putnam, J. J., 245; the nervous and mental sequelæ of influenza, Knapp, P. C., 253; the motor function of the so-called excitable regions of the cerebral cortex, 296; a peculiar form of nystagmus (Cheyne-Stokes nystagmus) with a case, Bullard, W. N., and Wentworth, A. H., 301, 313; ocular headaches, their cause, characteristics and treatment, Standish, M., 326, 337; on the reflex theory in nervous disease, 346; a multiple neuritis, encephalitis and meningitis after influenza, Putnam, J. J., 349; eye paralysis, Jeffries, J. A., 373, 389, 397; another case of chronic neuritis following influenza, Putnam, J. J., 405; the circulatory changes that take place in the brain during psychical activity, 439; transfusion of normal nerve substance, 442; two cases of sunstroke, Stowell, E. C., 452; a case of microcephalus, Koplik, H., 457; some remarks on the etiology of cerebral and cerebro-spinal meningitis, Briggs, H. M., 460; the feasibility of surgical interference in cases of acute meningitis, Bryant, J. D., 461; a case of metastatic abscesses of the brain, operation, death, Walton, G. L., 473, 482; pseudo-hypertrophic paralysis, Taylor, H. L., 506; the discussion on cerebral localizations at the fifth congress of the Italian Society of Internal Medicine, 510; tumor of the brain, Gannett, W. W., 528; the brain centres of the emotions, are there such centres? 535; cases of pseudo-paralysis, Bradford, E. H., 593, 601.
New York Post-Graduate School and Hospital, 562.
Nicolson, W. P. Hare-lip operations, 603.
Noble, C. P. Certain aspects of gonorrhœa in women, 386.
Nose. The correction of deformity resulting from abscess of the nasal septum, Roe, J. O., 17; the after-result of nasal cauterization, DeBlois, T. A., 18; cosmetic surgery of the nose, Roberts, J. B., 22; report on laryngology and rhinology, Hooper, F. H., 381.
Noyes, R. F. Disease of the pancreas, 571.
Nystagmus. A peculiar form of nystagmus (Cheyne-Stokes nystagmus) with a case, Bullard, W. N., and Wentworth, A. H., 301, 313.
Obstetrics. Recent progress in obstetrics, Green, C. M., 215.
Oliver, C. A. History of a case of gunpowder injuries to both corneæ, irides and lenses, with subsequent restoration of vision to almost full acuity, 332; two cases of symmetrically-placed opacities of the cornea occurring in mother and son, 334; the clinical value of repeated careful correction of manifest refractive error in plastic iritis, 335.
Opium. The crusade against opium in India, 151.
Orthopraxy. Talipes equino-varus, Ricketts, B. M., 20; a transient or ephemeral form of hip-disease, with a report of cases, Lovett, R. W., and Morse, J. L., 161; the weight of the body in its relation to the pathology and treatment of club-foot, Judson, A. B., 280; a clinical classification of hip disease, Lovett, R. W., 354; the forcible straightening of angular deformities of the knee by means of special mechanical appliances, Goldthwait, J. E., 517, 529; operative treatment of resistant club-foot, Bradford, E. H., 541; recent progress in orthopedic surgery, Bradford, E. H., and Brackett, E. G., 619.
Otis, E. O. A case of broken neck with autopsy, 261, 265.
Ott, I. The seat of absinthe epilepsy, 143.
Ovariotomy. Obstruction to labor threatened by a dermoid cyst of the ovary with a long pedicle, ovariotomy, recovery, Homans, J., 87; can we prevent secondary hæmorrhage after ovariotomy? Hanks, H. T., 410; ovariotomy in old women, Johnson, J. T., 603.
Palmer, C. D. Periodical intermenstrual pain, 361; what is the best management of occipito-posterior positions of the vertex? 437.
Pan-American Congress. Its influence on sanitation and quarantine, Pepper, W., 407; railway surgery, 514.
Pancreas. A case of pancreatitis and hæmorrhage with a few remarks on the clinical aspects of pancreatic inflammation, Day, F. L., 569; acute pancreatitis, Fitz, R. H., 571; disease of the pancreas, Noyes, R. F., 572; acute pancreatitis, 583.
Park, W. H. Diphtheria and allied pseudo-membranous inflammations, 226.
Parish, W. H. Cœliotomy after labor, 386.
Pepper, W. Medical education and the four years' course, 35; the Pan-American Medical Congress and its influence on sanitation and quarantine, 407.
Peritonitis after abdominal section, Tait, L., 586; the treatment of tubercular peritonitis, Myers, W. H., 602.
Peterson, F. Three cases of acute mania from inhaling carbon bisulphide, 325.
Pharyngo-Mycosis, Knight, F. I., 15.
Phthisis in its relation to insanity, Mays, T. J., 245.
Piperazin, 26.
Placenta Prævia. On the treatment of placenta prævia, 390; placenta prævia, Hayward, G. G., 421, 433.
Pleurisy. Chronic adhesive pleurisy, inflammatory and tubercular, Tyndale, J. H., 410.
Pneumonia. A household epidemic of pneumonia suggesting contagion, Sears, G. G., 328; the treatment of pneumonia by transfusion of blood from a convalescent case, Hughes and Carter, 442.
Poisons. Aconite poisoning, Robinson, S. Q., 192; the Lancet special analytical commission on arsenical wall-papers, 199.
Polk, W. M. Supra-vaginal hysterectomy for uterine fibroids, report of fourteen cases, 409.
Pomeroy, O. D. Cases of mastoid diseases exhibiting somewhat extensive carious processes, 267; some tenotomies of recti muscles for insufficiencies, 336.
Potter, W. W. Specialism in medicine particularly as related to surgery and gynecology, 579.
Pregnancy, Affections connected with. A case of extreme dyspnœa and cyanosis before, during and after labor, Provan, R., 11, 22; a case of complete inertia uteri at full term, labor induced by abdominal pressure, Thompson, J. M., 41, 45; an unusual case of puerperal septicæmia, Thompson, J. M., 41, 45; albuminuria in pregnancy, Smith, C. D., 69; obstruction to labor threatened by a dermoid cyst of the ovary with a long pedicle, ovariotomy, recovery, Homans, J., 87; recent progress in obstetrics, Green, C. M., 215; obstetrical a-epsis and antisepsis, Blaylock, E., 218; analysis of twenty-five cases of hydatidiform moles, Craigin, G. A., 231; spinal birth-palsies, a study of nine cases of "obstetric paralysis," Burr, C. K., 235, 242; on the modification of labor due to extreme maceration of the fœtus, Townsend, C. W., 238, 242; the elective Cæsarean section, the most favorable time for operation, Coe, H. C., 363; remarks on the radical treatment of certain cases of grave concealed accidental hæmorrhage, Storer, M., 377, 388; the remarkable results of antiseptic symphysiotomy, Harris, R. P., 385; cœliotomy after labor, Parish, W. H., 386; accouchement forcé in certain obstetrical complications, with remarks on the treatment of post-partum hæmorrhage, Grandin, E. H., 387; on the treatment of placenta prævia, 390; placenta prævia, Hayward, G. G., 421, 433; vomiting of pregnancy, Kingman, H. A., 427, 435; the difficulties of diagnosing the positions in head presentations, Prescott, 434; specimens, Cushing, E. W., 435; the value of the forceps in complicated high arrest of the breech, with report of two cases, Reynolds, E., 436; what is the best management of occipito-posterior positions of the vertex? Palmer, C. D., 437; laparotomy for extra-uterine pregnancy, removal of macerated fœtus of eight months, Warren, J. C., 525; ectopic gestation, Strong, C. P., 553; craniotomy upon the living fœtus is not justifiable, Kollock, C. W., 558; a case of extensive hæmatocele resulting from tubal pregnancy rupturing into the broad ligament, Haggard, W. D., 558; fibroid tumor of the uterus, pregnancy, rupture about the fourth month, operation, specimen, Hogan, S. M., 558.

Prescott. The difficulties of diagnosing the positions in head presentations, 434.

Preston, G. J. Some contributions to the muscular sense, 196.

Prince, M. An improved method of removing vascular growths of the skin by electrolysis, 80.

Prophets without honor in their own country, 514.

Provan, R. A case of extreme dyspnœa and cyanosis, before, during and after labor, 11, 22.

Putnam, F. W. Anthropology at the World's Fair, 127.

Putnam, J. J. Pain in the sole of the foot in walking, 214; a case of akinesia algera, 245; cephalic tetanus, 245; on multiple neuritis, encephalitis and meningitis after influenza, 349; another case of chronic neuritis following influenza, 405.

Putnam, J. W. Sleep movements of epilepsy, 142.

Quackery. Diagnosis of a Massachusetts "doctor," 51.

Quarantine. National health legislation and quarantine, Walcott, H. P., 307, 311; cholera and quarantine, 319; the probable advantages of quarantine and the proper method of conducting it, Godfrey, J., 407; the Pan-American Congress and its influence on sanitation and quarantine, Pepper, W., 407; the sanitary administration of passenger steamships, especially those that are infected, Armstrong, S. T., 451; improvement of quarantine, 511; the advantages and disadvantages of federal quarantine, 583

Railway Surgery. Pan-American Medical Congress, 514.

Randall, B. A. Preliminary notes on craniometric studies in relation to aural anatomy, 269; excision of membrane and malleus for catarrhal deafness, followed by suppuration, mastoid empyema and burrowing abscess of the neck, 316.

Ranula. A case of ranula, Smith, J. L., 456.

Recent Progress. Mental diseases, Stedman, H. R., 12; diseases of children, Rotch, T. M., 42, 596; surgery, Burrell, H. L., and Cushing, H. W., 64, 87, 115, 479, 502; chemistry, Hills, W. B., 138, 195; thoracic disease, Sears, G. G., 163, 193; obstetrics, Green, C. M., 215; food, drugs and articles of domestic use, Davenport, B. F., 240, 264; dermatology, Bowen, J. T., 309, 331; gynecology, Davenport, F. H., 360; laryngology and rhinology, Hooper, F. H., 381; anatomy, Dwight, T., 454; therapeutics, Williams, F. H., 499, 526; ophthalmology, Standish, M., 553, 573; orthopedic surgery, Bradford, E. H., and Brackett, E. G., 619.

Reed, C. A. L. Surgery of the ureters with a report of cases, 579.

Reeve, R. A. Pulsating exophthalmus, 366.

Regnault. The prehensile foot of the East Indians, 250.

Respiratory System. On the influence of certain diathetic conditions upon the prognosis in operations upon the throat, Delavan, D. B., 15; some pathological conditions of the upper air-passages coincident with attacks of "la grippe," Chapman, S. H., 15; pharyngo-mycosis, Knight, F. I., 15; a case of fibrous epithelioma at the root of the tongue, Wright, J., 16; the value of sprays in the treatment of catarrhal affections of the upper air-passages, Rice, C. C., 17; the correction of deformity resulting from abscess of the nasal septum, Roe, J. O., 17; the after-result of nasal cauterization, DeBlois, T. A., 18; a case of suppurating ethmoiditis, Bryan, J. H., 18; forced respiration; Fell-method of face-mask and tracheotomy in diphtheria, Fell, G. E., 20; the treatment of asthma by iodide of potassium, 71; broncho-pneumonia, Mosny, 98; recent progress in thoracic disease, Sears, G. G., 163, 193; phthisis in its relation to insanity, Mays, T. J., 245; case of chronic purulent otitis media, old pulmonary tuberculosis, opening of mastoid, death from acute basilar meningitis, autopsy, Knapp, H., 269; a household epidemic of pneumonia suggesting contagion, Sears, G. G., 328; chronic adhesive pleurisy, inflammatory and tubercular, Tyndale, J. H., 410; the gastric disorders of phthisis, pathogeny and treatment of vomiting, 414; the treatment of pneumonia by transfusion of blood from a convalescent case, Hughes and Carter, 442; transitory dulness at the apices of the lung, Kœnig, 490.

Reynolds, E. The value of the forceps in complicated high arrest of the breech, with report of two cases, 436.

Rice, C. C. The value of sprays in the treatment of catarrhal affections of the upper air-passages, 17.

Richardson, B. W. Intra-thoracic auscultation, 610.

Richardson, M. H. Remarks on the surgical treatment of appendicitis, 105, 118; gall-stones, 164; a case of interstitial obstruction relieved by laparotomy and separation of adhesions between the sigmoid flexure and the uterus, 357; specimens of the vermiform appendix, 555.

Richardson, M. H., and Mumford, J. G. Surgical methods followed in private practice during the year 1891 with a résumé of results in one hundred and fourteen cases operated upon, 421.

Richey, S. O. The prime etiological factor of glaucoma is constitutional, 334.

Ricketts, B. M. Talipes equino-varus, 20; amputation of the scrotum and circumcision, 20; neurectomy of the great sciatic nerve for painful neuroma as the result of a gunshot injury, 20,

Ricketts, E. Cholecystotomy, with the report of a case, 603.

Roberts, J. B. Cosmetic surgery of the nose, 22.

Roberts, S. W. Tuberculosis, 217.

Roberts, W. O. The treatment of ununited fractures by resection, 578.

Robinson, S. O. Aconite poisoning, 192.

Rockwell, A. D. Electricity in the treatment of gastralgia and atonic dyspepsia, 160.

Roe, J. O. The correction of deformity resulting from abscess of the nasal septum, 17.

Rogers, O. F. Infantile scurvy, with notes of two cases, 617.

Roosa, D. B. St. John. Wound of the lateral sinus in the course of mastoid operation followed by septicæmia with recovery, 316; case of exostosis of external auditory meatus, 317; contributions to aural surgery, 470.

Roosevelt Hospital. The new operating theatre, 463.

Ross, G. A manipulative mistake and its consequences, 603.

Rotch, T. M. Report on diseases of children, 42, 596; improved methods of modifying milk for infant feeding, 56; influenza, 599.

Ruth, C. E. Gunshot wounds of the cerebrum, 19.

Sachs, B. A further contribution to the pathology of arrested cerebral development, 168; report upon the surgical treatment of epilepsy, 169.

Salisbury Beach Sickness, 123.

Sanitary Legislation, 610.

Scurvy. Infantile scurvy, with notes of two cases, Rogers, O. F., 617; a case of infantile scurvy, Goss, F. W., 619.

Sears, G. G. Recent progress in thoracic disease, 163, 193; a household epidemic of pneumonia suggesting contagion, 328.

Sewers. Boston sewers, 174.

Shakespeare, E. O. Preventive measures for the individual during the prevalence of cholera, 322.

Shattuck, F. C. The diagnosis and symptoms of acute intestinal obstruction, 129, 144.

Shattuck, G. B. Malignant endocarditis with report of two cases, 277, 292.

Shock, Evans, J., 603.

Simmonds. Flies and cholera, 490.

Skin. Recent progress in dermatology, Bowen, J. T., 309, 331; some modifications of Thiersch's method of skin-grafting, Watson, F. S., 405.

Small-Pox. The successful transformation of small-pox into cow-pox, 127.

Smell. The sense of smell, Jahsow, 442.

Smith, A. N. Antipyretics in fever, 220.

Smith, C. D. Albuminuria in pregnancy, 69.

Smith, J. L. Choleriform diseases in infants and young children, 407; a case of ranula, 456.

Societies. American Gynecological Society, 361, 385, 408, 436; American Laryngological Association, 15; American Medical Association, 18; American Neurological Association, 141, 168, 196, 220, 242; American Ophthalmological Society, 332, 364; American Otological Society, 267, 315; Am. Public Health Association, 72, 606; Boston Medico-Psychological Society, 389; Boston Society for Medical Improvement, 90, 164, 313, 504, 555, 599; Harvard Medical School Association, 26; Maine Medical Association, 67; Massachusetts Medical Society, 177, 388, 394, 482, 622; New Hampshire Medical Society, 217; New York Academy of Medicine, 456, 460, 506; New York County Medical Association, 406, 410; New York Neurological Society, 627; Norfolk District Medical Society, 580; Obstetrical Society of Boston, 22, 45, 242; Southern Surgical and Gynecological Association, 557, 577, 602; Suffolk District Medical Society, 118, 177, 265, 292, 311, 433, 482, 528, 610, 622.

Specialism in medicine, particularly as related to surgery and gynecology, Potter, W. W., 579; specialism in medicine, Westmoreland, W. F., 580.

Spine. A fracture of the cervical vertebræ, with autopsy, Otis, E. O., 261, 265; dislocation of cervical vertebræ, Walton, G. L., 265.

Spitzka, E. C. A new symptom indicating combined cerebellar and spinal inco-ordination, 143; the treatment of syphilitic nervous affections, 243.

Standish, M. Ocular headaches, their cause, characteristics and treatment, 326, 337; recent progress in ophthalmology, 553, 573.

Statistics. The necessity of a revision of the classification and nomenclature employed in the vital statistics of Massachusetts, Abbott, S. W., 113.

Steamships. The sanitary administration of passenger steamships, especially those that are infected, Armstrong, S. T., 451.

Stedman, H. R. Recent progress in mental diseases, 12; separate provision for epileptics, both public and private, 168.

Stephenson, F. B. Letter from Korea, 75; a symbol for physicians, 380.

Stevens, E. H. Malaria in Cambridge and vicinity, 614.

Stimulants. The use of stimulants by women, 367.

Stone, A. K. Bacteriological and clinical investigations into the new antiseptic, dermatol, 207.

Storer, M. Remarks on the radical treatment of certain cases of grave concealed accidental hæmorrhage, 377, 388.

Stowell, E. C. Two cases of sunstroke, 452.

Stricture. Urethral stricture with some suggestions as regards treatment, Foster, B. B., 67.

Strong, C. P. Hyperæsthesia of the vaginal orifice a cause of reflex pelvic pain, 496, 505; specimens, 505; total extirpation of the uterus, improved method of treating the stump, 520, 530; ectopic gestation, 552.

Sulphonal. The powerful effect of sulphonal in arresting the cramps of fractured limbs and other reflex spasms, Andrew, E., 21.

Sunstroke. Two cases of sunstroke, Stowell, E. C., 452.

Surgery. Recent progress in surgery, Burrell, H. L., and Cushing, H. W., 64, 87, 115, 479, 502; surgery in the future, "Paul Pry, Jr.," 395; surgical methods followed in private practice during the year 1891, with a résumé of results in one hundred and fourteen cases operated upon, Richardson, M. H., and Mumford, J. G., 421; compatability of conservative and aggressive surgery, Gaston, J. M., 579; a plea for more rapid surgical work, Vance, A. M., 579.

Sutphen, T. Y. Mastoid operation in a case of middle-ear disease, with septicæmic symptoms and cerebral complications, 269; scleral puncture in detachment of the retina, 365.
Swasey, G. B. Congenital syphilis, 67.
Symbol for physicians, Stephenson, F. B., 380.
Symphysis. The remarkable results of antiseptic symphysiotomy, Harris, R. P., 385.
Syphilis. Congenital syphilis, Swasey, G. B., 67.
Tait, L. Peritonitis after abdominal section, 586.
Taylor, H. L. Pseudo-hypertrophic paralysis, 506.
Teeth of school children, 489.
Telephone. Injurious effects of the telephone upon hearing, Gellé, 50.
Tetanus. Cephalic tetanus, Putnam, J. J., 245.
Therapeutics. Recent progress in therapeutics, Williams, F. H., 499, 526.
Theobald, S. The value of weak solutions of bichloride of mercury in the treatment of otitis media suppurativa, 270; removal of a fragment of steel from the vitreous chamber by means of the electro-magnet, with preservation of nearly normal vision, 333.
Thompson, J. M. A case of complete inertia at full term: labor induced by abdominal pressure, 41, 45; an unusual case of puerperal septicæmia, 41, 45.
Thorndike, P. A case of nephro-lithotomy with remarks on the operation, 522, 532.
Thyroid Gland. Inhibition of growth in sheep after thyroidectomy, von Eiselsberg, 490.
Tocci brothers, Harris, R. P., 150.
Tongue. A case of fibrous epithelioma at the root of the tongue, Wright, J., 16.
Tomlinson, H. A. A study of the sensory and sensory-motor disturbances associated with insanity, from a biological and physiological standpoint, 244.
Townsend, C. W. On the modification of labor due to extreme maceration of the fœtus, 238, 242; treatment of incontinence of the urine in children, 590, 599; malaria in Boston and vicinity, 615.
Treves, F. Surgery of the appendix vermiformis, 466.
Trichinosis, McCollom, J. H., 59; an outbreak of trichinosis in Colrain, Drew, F. H., 61.
Tuberculosis, Roberts, S. W., 217; retro-peritoneal tuberculosis, simulating hernia, Davis, E. P., 386; gauiacol in the treatment of tuberculosis, Jacobi, A., 586.
Tucker, D. The electrical resistance of the urine, 127.
Tuttle, A. H. A rapidly fatal case of appendicitis, 432.
Tyndale, J. H. Chronic adhesive pleurisy, inflammatory and tubercular, 410.
Typhoid Fever. Therapeutics of typhoid fever in the Paris hospitals, 50; a case of intestinal antisepsis in typh id fever, Leidy, J., Jr., 150; the differentiation of the bacillus of typhoid fever, Fuller, G. W., 205.
Urinary System. Urethral stricture with some suggestions as regards treatment, Foster, B. B., 67; albuminuria in pregnancy, Smith, C. D., 69; examination of urine by the centrifugal machine, Albun, 73; the electrical resistance of the urine, Tucker, D., 127; a case of nephro-lithotomy, removal of calculus weighing five ounces, recovery, Gay, G. W., 134; an operation for renal calculus, Marcy, H. O., 137; a case of sacculated bladder with autopsy, Cabot, A. T., 191; a successful case of nephrectomy for pyelo-nephritis with calculi, Cushing, H. W., 257; cancerous kidney removed by laparotomy, recovery, Mixter, S. J., 262, 266; a case of large cyst of the kidney, nephrectomy, recovery, Cushing, E. W., 263, 266; the discussion on chronic Bright's disease at the French Academy of Medicine, 341; a case of nephro-lithotomy with remarks on the operation, Thorndike, P., 522, 532; surgery of the ureters with a report of cases, Reed, C. A. L., 579; the relations of albuminuria to excessive uric acid secretion and oxaluria, DaCosta, J. M., 589; treatment of incontinence of urine in children, Townsend, C. W., 590, 599.
Vance, A. M. A plea for more rapid surgical work, 579.
Vaughan, V. C. The kind and amount of laboratory work which shall be required in our medical schools, 212.
Veterinary Surgery. Anæsthesia in veterinary surgery, 50.
Vivisection. London letter, 491.
Vomiting of pregnancy, Kingman, H. A., 427, 435.
Von Pettenkoffer. The comma bacillus, 585.
Walcott, H. P. National health legislation and quarantine 307, 311.
Walton, G. L. Dislocation of the cervical vertebræ, 265; a case of metastatic abscess of the brain, operation, death, 473, 482.
Walton, G. L., and Cheney, F. E. The importance of correcting ocular defects in functional nervous disorders, 153, 165.
Warren, J. C. Acute intestinal obstruction, 144; laparotomy for extra-uterine pregnancy, removal of macerated fœtus of eight months, 525.
Warren, S. P. Axis-traction forceps, 68.
Wathen, W. H. Complications during and after the operation in a few recent cases of abdominal and pelvic surgery, 362; the treatment of umbilical and ventral hernia, 578.
Watson, F. S. Some modifications of Thiersch's method of skin-grafting, 405; extensive acute adenitis and cellulitis of the axilla, 533.
Welch, W. H. Medical education and the four years' course, 37.
Welch and Nuttall. A bacillus producing gas in the blood-vessels after death, 467.
Westmoreland, W. F. Specialism in medicine, 580.
White, J. C. Medical education and the four years' course, 38.
Williams, F. H. Strong hydrogen peroxide solutions locally in diphtheria, 303, 313; recent progress in therapeutics, 499, 526.
Williams, J. W. Vaginal secretions, 74.
Wolters. Lupus from inoculation of tubercle bacilli, 466.
Worcester, A. The treatment of appendicitis, 101, 118.
Wounds. The treatment of wounds from the aspect of germ infection, Ewing, C. B., 379.
Wright, J. A case of fibrous epithelioma at the root of the tongue, 16.
Zymotic diseases, Broadbent, 418.